WILLIAM W. GRAY.
Raleigh, October 8, 1896.

For five or six years previous to the Spring of 1894, a Negro man of mine had been much afflicted with an ulcerated arm and hand, which rendered him almost useless. The ulcer embraced that part of his arm from the elbow down, including his entire hand, which was literally a mass of putrefaction. A joint of one finger, and a part of the thumb, perished and dropped off. A more distressing and hopeless case I have never beheld. It was abandoned by his physicians as incurable, except by amputation of the hand.

The best medical treatment having failed to relieve the man, I placed him under the care of Mr. William W. Gray, in this place, who, with his Ointment, has effectually cured the case, although the Negro was frequently absent for weeks and months together. He has been entirely well for the last eight months, and I have good reason to believe will continue so.

ANOTHER GREAT CURE!

I am now 58 years of age—when in my 17th year, I received a wound on my left leg, which became ulcerated, and continued so until the first of March last. It would occasionally heal up, and then break out again; but most of the time, it was in a very painful condition, the sore having extended to a large size, and became very deep. I tried many remedies to make a cure, without success, until I applied Gray's Invaluable Ointment, two pots of which have effectually cured my leg, and reduced it to its natural size. The cure would have been made much sooner, had I strictly attended to the directions for the use of the Ointment; but this I failed to do, while I took much exercise, and very imprudently used tight bandages. My leg has been well for more than six months, during which time, I have walked much, yet it remains firm and free from all soreness or inflammation. After having been afflicted for a period of forty-one years, I now enjoy the benefit of a sound leg again.

NONE THEIR END OBTAIN.

The miser has his anguish,
The merchant weary pain,
The lover long doth languish,
Yet none their end obtain.

The toiling farmer soweth,
The traveller forward goeth—
Yet none their end obtain.

The miser leaves his money,
The merchant all his care;
The lover—gall and honey—
For thus it is they fare.

The farmer in death's furrow,
Is buried like his grain;
The labourer on the morrow
From labour doth refrain;

All pay the life they borrow,
For all that end obtain.

They lie then down to slumber
Beneath the churchyard stone,
With all the woes they number,
Their destiny unknown.

And what thus could they follow,
With such continued quest?
With flitting dream and hollow
Thus robed them of their rest.

Power, wealth, or love, or leisure,
Alike could not be sought;
Beyond must be some treasure,
Some phantom of the thought.

What Fig.—It is said that one the currency, that has been pursued by Generalissimo and his successor in power and heirless vice-Martin Van Buren,—a system, having for its tendency and object the destruction of public and private credit. As parts of this system of warfare on the property of the country, the Treasury Corporation has been authorized to estimate by the power, stand and consciousness. The Government, by draining the vaults of the Banks of their cash, by emasing in the Pet Banks, forces the former to tail their accommodations to a greater or less throughout the whole country. The pet Bank not discount extensively on the strength of the drafts, because they are under promise to pay T. Bank in specie; and they know not when the dering foot of the Treasury, is whiling the specie over the country in pursuance of a very effective law. This contraction of Bank issues discomfited the country merchants from meeting their contracts with the city merchants—the credit of the latter is impaired, in Europe—the open avowal of the Dallas doctrine by our Government in the appointment of Dallas to represent it at one of the most important courts of Europe, tends still further to impair the confidence of foreign merchants in our institutions—an extensive suspension of credits by them takes place with a demand for dues already owing from our country. By these causes, mainly, increased by mutual reaction we are reduced from a state of the highest prosperity to the very verge of a general commercial bankruptcy—a state of things that has already ruined hundreds, and thrown thousands out of the labor that furnished them their daily bread at the North and has prostrated, for a time at least, the great staple interests of the South—and all for what object? yes, for what object—let them answer who have supported Andrew Jackson in his headstrong tyranny, and Martin Van Buren in his serpent-like creeping into the executive chair of this country.

That I have not overrated the pressure in the West and South West, will appear when it is known that nine notes in ten of those due from merchants in that section to merchants of N. York, on the 1st January have been returned protested. I know one house several notes sent out was returned protested. It is quite refreshing to hear the deep-toned execrations proceeding from throats that I am told, were a few months since equally wide open in bellowing demagoguism and adulation to the powers that be.

I attended a meeting of the Loco Focos or Agrarians a few weeks ago in the Park. But I forbore to speak of this party at the present time, as well as of the Abolitionists, fearing you have had a surfeit of politics.

But do not suppose from what I have written that N. York presents a spectacle of general gloom. Quite the contrary. The theaters I am informed, are crowded. Power and Ellen Tree draw extraordinary houses. I have not yet seen either—for I desire no longer to witness a scene of such a nature—and he that would cry in Wall street, need never expect to be purged of his passion, by shedding tears at fictitious tragedy.

Broadway is thronged and with the most amusing figures—made an female. I pay my respects to the ladies first. The very tight and low corset—quite down to the hips is all the vogue now. They are laced so excessively tight and rendered so small that a bachelor philanthropist, a friend of mine is under continual apprehension lest the dear creatures snap asunder. One is continually meeting ladies so severely corseted that they can scarcely walk without pain. Sometimes they remain as of a grasshopper, or of the prime old fashioned portraits of grand mothers, that is, those of us who had grand mothers to be painted. Some fine busts are splendidly set off by the tight bodice: But after all, the bust of a lady is like the ankle, not one in five hundred will bear close examination, for beauty of form. And let me recommend those ladies who admire small waists to examine the Venus de Medicis and see if that matchless delineation of human symmetry in the softer sex, resembles an insect. The hair is parted at the center of the forehead and curled close by the corner of the eyes, these smoothly laid over the cheek, and carried behind the ear to the back of the head where it is secured by a low silver comb. A few long ringlets are suffered to hang down in front of the ear nearly to the collar bone. Young gentlemen of fashion too "about town" affect a profusion of hair about the face. Whiskers are decidedly the go; and the mouchoir is maintaining a fierce conflict with decency. The hair is suffered to grow long and then frizzled about the face. A friend of mine as let his hair grow to enormous length, but he turns it up like a hedge hog, not daring, he says, to trust his poll to a barber, through fear that he will frizzle and transfigure him out of a knowledge of his identity. For my part, I yield my poor head to the absolute control of the barber—except for the moustache. I cant bear any one on one since I caught the glimpse of a jetty silver fringe that curled on the upper lip of a free negro that I saw a few days since passing Waverly Place. But good bye.—You see I am at the end of my sheet. You shall hear again from Yours,

MORE FRUITS OF THE "EXPERIMENT."
It is stated on good authority that the President of the United States Bank, has declined the acceptance of the liberal offer of the Bank of England, made a few weeks since, viz: to draw upon that institution for two millions pounds sterling. The reasons for declining are thus stated:

"The President of the United States Bank could not accept the proposition unless the Government either repealed or so modified the Treasury Order, as to enable the Bank to obtain the requisite amount of gold and silver."

"Mr. Biddle has recently been to Washington, and probably communicated with Government on the subject; but, whatever was the result, it cannot be known. Until officially communicated to the public; so that everything in relation to it, must be rumor merely. It is quite clear that no such arrangement could be made with the Bank of England, without such measures on the part of Government as would let the specie of the country take its natural channel—and, at the same time, further backs that the Executive gave no encouragement that the Treasury Circular is to be repealed or modified; all is gloomy yet, if there be any foundation for the rumor."

MASSACHUSETTS RESOLUTIONS.
The press of the South have been grossly deceived in regard to the course of the Massachusetts Legislature on the Abolition Resolutions introduced into that body. The following is the original preamble and the Resolutions adopted in the House by a vote of 378 to 16, and in the Senate unanimously, viz:

Whereas, the House of Representatives of the United States, in the month of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-seven, did adopt a resolution, whereby it was ordered that all petitions, memorials, resolutions, propositions, or papers, relating in any way, or to any extent whatever, to the subject of slavery, or the abolition of slavery, without being either printed or referred, should be laid on the table, and that no further action thereon should be taken; and whereas, by the resolution aforesaid, had thereon; and whereas, by the resolution aforesaid, which is adopted as a standing rule of the present House of Representatives, the petitions of a large number of the People of this Commonwealth, praying for the removal of a great moral and political evil, have been slighted and contemned; therefore,

Resolved, That the resolution above named is an assumption of power and authority at variance with the spirit and intent of the Constitution of the United States, and injurious to the cause of freedom and free institutions; that it does violence to the inherent and inalienable rights of man; and that it tends essentially to impair those fundamental principles of natural justice and natural law which are antecedent to any written Constitution of government, independent of them all, and essential to the security of freedom in a State.

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress, in unassuming and advocating the full right of petition, have entitled themselves to the cordial approbation of the people of this Commonwealth.

Resolved, That Congress, having exclusive legislation in the District of Columbia, possesses the right to abolish slavery in the said District, and that its exercise should only be restrained by a regard to the public good.

To these resolutions, the Senate added an amendment, and another Resolution, going still stronger in abolition, but which did not pass the House.

and were afterwards permitted to die in the Senate. Thus, the above Preamble and Resolutions stand as the recorded sentiments of the People of Massachusetts; and we certainly can see nothing in them that should cause Southern men, and the Southern press to rejoice at the "returning good sense of Massachusetts."

The United States Court, for the District of North Carolina, commenced its session in Raleigh on Friday last, the 12th inst. We understand that the mate and part of the crew of the ship Wm. Gibbons, wrecked last winter, will have their trial at this session of the Court.

The Virginia Elections have again resulted in the triumph of the spoils men. Parties in Congress and the State Legislature stand about as they did last year. Is it not melancholy and lacerating to the feelings of every lover of liberty, to see VIRGINIA—once the proud and free—the Republican "Old Dominion," at the mere mention of which corruption and tyranny once trembled—thus tamely and ignominiously submitting to the dictation of party demagogues, and quietly bending under the yoke of oppression, laid on by mercenary hands—to see her lauding and supporting measures the enormity of which has even opened the eyes of corrupt New-York! "How the mighty has fallen!"

"AN EXAMINER"
A series of communications has been published in the National Gazette, at Philadelphia, over the signature, in which the causes of the present deplorable state of our country are plainly proven and fully discussed. These papers are too long for insertion in our columns, entire, but we shall endeavor to make a synopsis of their arguments and conclusions for our next paper—only remarking now, that the writer proves, beyond a doubt, that the causes which have produced such wide spread ruin, are solely attributable to the unauthorized, unwise, and wicked interference of the Federal Government, with the trade and currency of the country.

Arthur Tappan gone by the board.—This notorious incendiary and wealthy silk merchant has certainly failed for a large sum, and gone down irretrievably, carrying with him many of his friends. We rejoice in the distress of so man; but Arthur Tappan's misfortune, certainly does not excite our sympathy.

The Columbia (S. C.) Times, of May 5th state, that "the Baptist Manual Labor School, located about six miles from Wimbomborough, in this State, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning last. We believe the Institution has just gone into successful operation—therefore the loss must be severely felt. The fire is ascribed to accident."

A new Post-Office has been established in Randolph County, called Sandy Creek, and G. B. BAKER appointed Postmaster.

THE TIMES.
NEW YORK, May 2, 1837.
Arthur Tappan failed yesterday. He is said to be worth half a million clear; but if a man is worth ten millions in these times, and even has a million in deposit, say in New Orleans, he must fail in New York, if he owes $40,000 only, which he cannot get here in money. It is feared his failure will drag down others.

The house of Bently & Co. has failed in Liverpool. The London Times in the city article of April 1st, talks of an arrangement which the Bank of England has made with the Bank of the United States, by which the Bank of the United States will be permitted to draw without a remittance in specie. If Mr. Biddle can bring this to pass, every body will be fascinated with "the monster."

I have not time to inquire about this before the Express mail is off; but it is an important rumor.

NEW YORK, May 3.
Things are gloomy, and, if possible, more melancholy than ever. The failure of one who was considered one of the soundest brokers in Wall street has created great alarm. Another important house failing has also added to the alarm.

Safety Fund notes are a drug in Wall Street today. They cannot be sold to any extent. Thus a man may fail with an armful of money in his hands.

NEW YORK, May 5—3 p. m.
Money Market.—Some descriptions of Stocks, particularly rail roads, were more firm today, while others have experienced very heavy declines. United States Bank closed five per cent. lower than the last sales of yesterday; Delaware and Hudson opened at fifty-one, and went up to fifty three; Farmer's Trust also rose one per cent. Boston and Providence two and a half, and Boston and Worcester two. Utica rail road declined two and three quarters per cent.

The run on the Mechanics Bank has continued through the morning, but we are told they have more specie on hand than will be able to pay every dollar they have in circulation.

Uncurrent money remains about the same as yesterday; with the exception of four kinds, the notes of all the Western Safety Fund Banks are unsaleable. New England money, however, is freely purchased at one and a half per cent. discount; and Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Virginia, are also taken by the brokers, but at different rates. The bank paper of Michigan northern Ohio, the interior of Pennsylvania, and all south of Virginia, is totally refused.—Carrier & Enquirer.

Stocks.—United States Bank is down to 103.—Boston and Providence has advanced; also, Boston and Worcester. There is a terrible panic in the market. Southern and western money cannot be sold any how, and the brokers take nothing west of Albany. The banks take nothing for collection on the south.

The run on the Mechanics bank has ceased. [Evening Post.]

By the last Mail, we learn that the affairs at the North are becoming more and more gloomy.—Fresh thousands of laborers have been thrown out of employ in the City of New York, and no prospect of relief appears. Arthur Tappan has now failed to a certainty, and involved many others in his fall.

The tidings from New England are of a piece with the City news. Factories every where stopped, and laborers, without number discharged.—This is plain fact—no extension or exaggeration. [Raleigh Register.]

IMPORTANT FROM TEXAS.
From the Texas Telegraph of April 11.
Information has been received from Matagorda, that the schooner Bonny Boat, Captain Thomson, had arrived at that port. Capt. T. states, that off Velasco, within sight of land, he was hoisted to, by a Mexican brig, mounting 16 guns. At this time there were two other brigs in sight. After being detained for some time, and receiving six passengers from the schooner Louisiana, which was captured at the same time, he was allowed to proceed on his voyage, having no articles contraband of war on board, and arrived yesterday in Matagorda.—Capt. T. was informed by Davis, the commander of the Mexican squadron, that he had previously captured the schooner Champion, laden with provisions, arms, ammunition and emigrants, which he had sent to the westward. Davis also informed him that the Mexican army were at or near San Patricio, advancing to attack us.

Let none be frightened at the above intelligence. But it is hoped that every citizen will prepare himself, in the event of another attack, to be ready. Let there be no bustle, no precipitation or confusion. If there be a necessity for a turn-out, we shall have due notice—but let none move until we hear something more definite. Deaf Smith has gone to the west, and we are persuaded he will give us notice if danger should be near. It is hoped all will look for the star in the west. Last spring many fancied it was in the east.

The New Orleans papers, of Monday, brings us the subjoined important intelligence in relation to the recent naval exploits of the Texans and the war between their mighty little fleet, and that of Mexico. Success to ye, "bustlers," until you "bust" Bustamente, and all his and Santa Anna's hostile forces:

"The schooner Wm. Bryan arrived yesterday from Velasco, whence she sailed on the 14th inst., bringing a large list of passengers.

Through the politeness of Mr. J. A. Parker, U. S. Consul at Matagorda, we have been furnished with some interesting intelligence of the occurrences, movements, &c. in Texas.

The British armed brig Racer arrived at Velasco a few days previous to the sailing of the Wm. Bryan, having on board Mr. Crawford, British Consul for Tampico, who proceeded immediately after his debarkation to Columbia on a special mission as it is supposed from the British government to the new republic.

An express reached Velasco before the departure of the Wm. Bryan from Matagorda, bringing information that the schooner Champion, Louisiana and Vigilance had been captured by the Mexican fleet and carried to Matamoros. They are laden with provisions, arms, &c. and had on board a large number of passengers bound from New Orleans to Matagorda and Cox's point.

The Bonny Boat from Mobile bound to Matagorda with lumber was likewise taken shortly after off the Brazos, and after being detained a few hours, was released and six of the passengers of the Louisiana put on board of her. The Bonny Boat had reached Matagorda before the express left, but could tell nothing as to the fate of remaining passengers belonging to the Louisiana.

Matagorda was in a state of blockade. The Mexican fleet, consisting of two brigs and two schooners badly manned, anchored at Velasco on the 14th inst. An express was immediately despatched to S. R. Fisher, Esq., set out without delay for Galveston, where the schooners Invincible and Brutus were lying for the purpose, it is presumed, of preparing them for an engagement with the enemy.

The probability of this surmise is rendered much greater from the fact, that on the 18th, when the Wm. Bryan was bearing to the South of the Sabine about twenty miles, eight distinct broadsides were heard by the passengers in that direction.

The firing which was heard lasted for about forty minutes. On the 14th, the brig Sam Houston, while crossing the bar at Velasco, broke her rudder and was driven on the beach. The passengers and cargo were all saved, and strong hopes are entertained of being able to get the brig off.

No account of the Julius Caesar had been received when the Bryan left, and fears were entertained that she had also been captured.

The main army under the command of Gen'l. Johnson, was still in the La Baca, in fine health and spirits, and anxious to encounter Bravo and his army. This is the prevailing desire of the country. If they cannot have peace, they are ready for fighting, and prefer it to inaction and suspense.

Large crops of cotton and corn have been planted, and bid fair to yield an abundant return.

Since the first of March, it is supposed that on an average a thousand emigrants have arrived in the country every week. Business of all kinds is of course very brisk, lands are rising rapidly and money is becoming very plenty. The country is completely stocked with goods of all kinds, and some have been reshipped in the Wm. Bryan.

Since the above was written, we learn that the Louisiana has arrived in part from Matamoros, where her release was obtained by a demand from the commander of the U. S. Sloop of War Natchez.

Strong Necessity for an Office.—The Exoter (New Hampshire) News-Letter relates the following excellent anecdote:

"A countryman from the northern part of the State once called upon Governor WENDELL, at Portsmouth, and begged his acceptance of a saddle of venison.—The Governor loved venison, and smiled most graciously upon Jonathan as he accepted the present, and thanked him for so acceptable a mark of his respect. But the man hem'd and scratched his head, and was in no hurry to depart. The errand was but half done. His Excellency inquired of him if he could in any way be of service to him? When Jonathan informed him that there was no Kniga in the militia company at —, and he would be dreadfully obliged to his Governorship for a commission. The Governor would be very happy to oblige him if he had the proper recommendations, and asked if the company had elected him for his appointment? "Why, no, may it please your Excellency's honor," said Jonathan, "there are only two other men in town but myself, and one of them is the Captain and the other Lieutenant, and they exercise and manœuvre me so much, that I am really afraid if I'm not made an Ensign pretty soon, they'll drill me to death."

Wilmington has first availed herself of the Twelfth Principle.—The Executive gives notice that "agreedly to the provisions of an act of the last General Assembly, a subscription of 6000 shares has been made by the Board of Internal Improvements on behalf of the State, to the Wilmington and Raleigh Rail Road Company, and that 25 per cent has been paid thereon." We take great pleasure in announcing to the State, that the citizens of Wilmington have been the first to entitle themselves to the aid of the State, but sincerely hope our brethren of Fayetteville, and the West may soon do likewise. [Wilmington Advertiser.]

Dreadful Slaughter and Cannibalism in New Zealand.—Late accounts state that the flax establishment of Mr. Jones, at Sydney, was attacked by 800 of the natives of Waikato, Matamata and Tauranga. Of 120 in the establishment, every man was killed, and the women and children made prisoners, which latter were savagely butchered with tomahawks, their heads and limbs scattered about in every direction. On their return, they fell in with 13 of a hostile tribe, whom they murdered and then feasted on their flesh, which they baked in ovens.—N. C. Standard.

Law Eloquence in Kentucky.—The following powerful, elegant, and classic appeal was made in a court of justice somewhere in Kentucky, by one of the "learned heads" of the bar. "Gentlemen of the jury, do you think my client, who lives in the pleasant valley of Kentucky, where the lands are rich and the soil are fertile, would be guilty of stealing eleven little skins of cotton? I think not, I reckon not, I calculate not. And I guess, gentlemen of the jury, that you had better bring my client in not guilty, for if you convict him, he and his son John will lick the whole of you."

Natural Curiosity.—Prof. Enmons has the following in his report on the Geology of the northern counties of New-York:

"The notch" about 5 miles from the iron works at Newcomb, is next to the falls of Niagara the greatest natural curiosity in the State, and is well worth a visit from the lovers of magnificent scenery. It is an immense gorge or chasm furnishing a passage through these high mountains. On the one side a precipice of solid rock rises perpendicularly by measurement 10 to 1200 feet, and on the other side a steep mountain attains an elevation of 5000 feet—the north branch of the Hudson, and the south branch of the Assenble, both rise in the gorge, the former flowing south, and the latter north, the two streams being so near to each other at these sources that during freshets their waters mingle. Even the fragments of rock, says the professor, lying in the notch are wonderful for size, one measured 41 feet wide, and 35 feet high—it is quadrangular in form, and will weigh about 500 tons, and is only one among hundreds of the same size. It is from facts like these that we learn what mighty forces have operated in former times."

An American Greta Green.—Garysburg, N. C., according to the Portsmouth Times has, thanks to the rail road, become another Greta, where the thwarted votaries of Hymen may find another revered Vulcan to forge for them the chains of wedlock. R. B. Gary is the gentleman who officiates for the disconsolate lovers. The Times says, "as well to country roads—the course of true love now runs smooth and flat on iron rails. Fire to yourselves, ye fair, sit care at the stand, pass and ma at home poring over the papers, or preparing for breakfast, and your sweet selves with "somebody," tripping it breathless along, heart going pit-a-pat, monosyllables even still, the bell ringing, just in time, in off wheels revolving, steam hissing, eyes melting, parishes, counties left behind, old Virginia gone by, and glorious Rip Van Winkle awake with hospitable heart to make you blessed. Is it not delightful?"

Boston Piggery.—About six miles from the city, in West Cambridge, is the Boston Piggery. At least 700 hogs are here constantly kept in pork condition, entirely on the offal from the dwelling houses in Boston, every one of which is visited in turn by the city carts. The offal increases, and the contractor calculates that it will be sufficient hereafter to fatten 1,000 hogs. He now receives four cart loads a day, and pays the city $3,500 a year, or about $2.75 a load. He receives three dollars a day for what the hogs leave. The city Treasury loses $1,000 a year by the operation, and it is said the man makes three times that sum.

The pig pen is an enclosure of fifteen acres, with places of shelter from the storm. As the hogs attain their size, they are slaughtered on the spot—the fat barrelled up, and the lean sold in the city. According to the rule in the country, the contractor should furnish each family in the city, once a year with a spare-rib, for the food furnished the piggery.

Mr. Cornelius Husted, of Pine Plains, in this county, fattened this fall, a "lady pig" and eleven "blooming responsibilities," the weight of which was twenty-four hundred and thirty-seven pounds.—Poughkeepsie Telegraph.

Dutches outdone by Tompkins.—We are authorized to state, that Mr. C. H. Morrell, of Lansing, has fattened a sow and her litter of twelve pigs, the aggregate weight of which, in a dressed condition, was 3,550 pounds. The pigs were 9 months and 10 days old.

This is the largest product from a single family, of the age, which we have any account of. [Ithaca Chronicle.]

Two Sharps.—On Saturday an old man picked up half a dollar in the Park. "Old man, that's mine," said a keen looking rascal, "so hand it over." "Did you have a hole in it?" asked the finder. "Yes it had," said the other sharply. "Then it's mine," replied the old man; "these must learn to be a little sharper next time."—N. Y. Times.

The Lions of Philadelphia.
The architectural beauty of many of the PUBLIC BUILDINGS of this city is proverbial.—They have not only been the pride of the city, but excite the attention of all strangers. Believing that it would be highly acceptable to our numerous patrons, scattered as they are from the Lakes to the Ocean—to be presented with SPLENDID ILLUSTRATIONS, from the hands of first rate artists—we have made arrangements to bring out a complete series. They will embrace a correct and well-executed view of all the PUBLIC EDIFICES, of our city and its vicinity, forming in the end a collection, that may well be termed THE LIONS OF PHILADELPHIA, and which will be presented to our patrons, without trenching upon the usual variety of our columns. Where it may be expedient, we will accompany the engravings with such descriptions of size and facts of history, as may be of interest.

We shall begin the publication as soon as we get several engravings from the hands of the artists, who are now at work upon them. On the appearance of the first view, we shall especially increase our edition of the Courier, to supply those who may wish to obtain and preserve these views.

The series will also appear regularly in the PHILADELPHIA MIRROR.
